

March 21, 2017

I am pleased to announce that Katherine Green is the new national director of news recruitment for the Television division. Katherine was most recently president of Shyft Media, a change agency focused on transitioning media companies from single to multi-platform business models. She has previously held executive positions with Tribune Media and CNN Worldwide.

Katherine will lead recruiting efforts for top news management positions in our 24 TV markets. She will focus primarily on openings for news directors, assistant news directors and executive producers, employing her nationwide network of connections and developing new relationships with respected news leaders throughout the industry.

With an extensive background in the newsroom, Katherine began her career in various producer and executive producer positions in Jacksonville, Florida; Miami; Tampa; and New York. She also served as news director for WBAL-TV, Baltimore and WTTG-TV, Washington, D.C. She spent three years as senior vice president and general manager for the CNN International Network and was a senior vice president at Tribune Media.

Katherine has received three Peabody Awards, eight Emmy awards and more than a dozen Edward R. Murrow awards. She is a recognized industry thought leader and has shared her expertise on many panels and forums within the U.S. and overseas.

Katherine will begin her new role on Monday, March 27. She will report to me, but will be part of the talent acquisition team and work closely with Karen Hite, director of talent acquisition.

Please join me and Karen in welcoming Katherine.
