Subject: From Janene Drafts: KOMO News Director Announcement!

I'm pleased to announce that William (Bill) Dallman has accepted the job of News Director for KOMO/KUNS! Bill brings both great leadership and experienced journalism, and I'm confident will lead this team to new heights. Beyond experience, he brings an attitude and shared vision for making KOMO the dominant News brand in the market.

Bill most recently was Vice-President of News at KCBS/KCAL in Los Angeles. Prior to KCBS he launched the news operation at FOX Sports 1. He also launched the news operation at KDVR in Denver, along with spending seven years as VP News at KMSP in Minneapolis. Bill is a hands-on leader whose career began as a Producer, and an EP with success all along the way.

Bill is married (wife Angie works for NBC News) – they have two grown children, and will be making the move North very soon.

His official start date is April 9th. He will be in the market a few days between now and then as he wants to meet as many of you as possible and spend some time with Pat. I'm more than excited to work side by side with him to take our powerhouse brands – KOMO, KUNS and komonews.com – to the next level.
