

RICK,

I'm happy to let you know I'm home after six weeks in two hospitals following a nasty fight with my appendix. If you're wife ever tells you to go to the ER with nagging stomach and back pain GO! I didn't and my appendix won. Surgery finally saved the day and thankfully I don't remember a lot of it. I am continuing rehab at home with a lot of work left to go. As you might expect large number of colleagues from my days in tv reached out to me and i am very grateful for them support.

Keep in touch. I think this whole thing was triggered by my reaction to the horrible new MLB uniform fiasco! Good luck getting those Indiana Fever tickets this summer. (Gevers note: I actually bought two Fever season tickets for next year. The teams has the first pick in the WNBA draft and is widely expected to take Iowa superstar Caitlin Clark.)

Best,

Les
