

It is with mixed emotions that I inform you today that Ed Kosowski has resigned his position as Vice President of News and Digital Content effective September 2nd in order to pursue new professional and personal goals.

It was a little over three years ago that Ed accepted my challenge to take our newscasts and interactive media to a higher level of professionalism. In those three years, he and his team raised standards and expectations significantly for news coverage and newscast production and recruited many of the experienced and talented employees that work in the KDVR/KWGN newsroom today.

Ed and his team will be finishing up their work this week on goals, plans, and budgets for 2015, so I hope you will drop by and wish him the very best in his future career pursuits. The search for Ed's replacement will begin immediately.
