

I have been so touched by all the warm memories, stories and tributes that so many people have shared about Forrest Carr and his impact on their lives. Thank you for caring and for helping paint a picture of this remarkable man who was taken all too soon.

Forrest was a truly special person, and always strove to leave the world a little better than he found it. I believe he succeeded in that mission and that he would have been surprised and honored to think that he made such a difference. I know he certainly changed and enriched my life in ways I never dreamed. I am so very grateful for every second we had together and every memory that we made, which I cherish.

After much consideration, we have decided to hold a service celebrating Forrest's life in Memphis so that more of his family can attend. Memphis is also the place where Forrest and I met, fell in love and started our life together. We are still firming up the date (in late February) and exact location, but I will share that information as soon as I can.

I will be placing all the wonderful messages in a book to share at the service and we will also be sharing some videos.

I am too distraught to appropriately communicate at the moment and appreciate everyone's understanding if it takes me a while to get back to you.

One moment at a time, I guess.

Love to you all.

Deborah Carr
